Teen Pregnancy Prevention Program (TPPP) — Tier 2 FY 2015 – FY 2019

University of New Mexico Health Science Center

Albuquerque, NM

Program models: Brief Intervention

$1,000,000

The University of New Mexico Health Sciences Center is working to develop and rigorously evaluate a brief, motivational interviewing-based intervention for teens at risk for unintended pregnancy in primary care. The Brief Intervention targets teens identified via primary care screening to be at risk for pregnancy and can be integrated into routine medical care through a 15-minute individual contact session using a motivational interviewing-based approach. The Brief Intervention will be tested with primarily with low income Hispanic and Native American teens (ages 14-19) attending primary care clinics at the Atrisco Center for Family and Community Health and the Albuquerque Job Corps Wellness Center.

Policy and Research, LLC

New Orleans, LA

Program model: Trauma Informed Approach for Adolescent Sexual Health (TIAASH)

$808,386

Policy and Research, LLC intends to implement and monitor a high-quality rigorous evaluation of the Practice Self-Regulation (PS-R) intervention. PS-R is designed for youth age 14-19 who have experienced trauma and are receiving outpatient counseling services. It is composed of 10 structured, one-on-one therapy-education sessions delivered by a therapist over a 16-week period and is intended to promote optimal sexual decision-making within the context of individual therapy. The study will take place at multiple outpatient clinics that serve youth age 14-19. Starting in July 2016 and continuing for two years, 600 participants will be enrolled into the study at partner clinics in Albuquerque, NM and Adrian, MI. The third and fourth years of the grant will be used to complete the following tasks: collect follow-up data from study participants; conduct implementation and impact evaluation analysis, reporting, and dissemination efforts; and finalize a complete electronic package of the implementation-ready intervention.

Teen Pregnancy Prevention Program (TPPP) — Tier 1 FY 2010 – FY 2014

Capacity Builders, Inc.

Farmington, NM

Program model: Teen Outreach Program™

$988,184

The Navajo Youth Builders coalition targets 11-19 year old Navajo youth on 7 reservation-based Boys & Girls Clubs. Over the next five years, 648 Club children will complete 72 hours of the Teen Outreach

*Program*TM(TOP) curriculum, annually. Participants will learn about relationships, communication, leadership, sexual health, body image, and refusal skills in addition to spending time with Navajo elders and adult role models as they engage in community-based service learning and fun sports and recreational activities. The overall goal of this program is to reduce and ultimately eliminate the occurrence of teen and child pregnancy in the Navajo Nation community.

Teen Pregnancy Prevention Program (TPPP) — Tier 2
FY 2010 – FY 2014

National Indian Youth Leadership Project (NIYLP)
Gallup, NM

Program model or strategy: Web of Life, adaptation of Project Venture and Circle of Life
$555,706

The National Indian Youth Leadership Project (NIYLP) is implementing the Web of Life Project in rural McKinley County in targeted middle and high schools. The project will serve 1,200 Native American youth ages 12-17. The Web of Life Project, a modification of the evidence-based Project Venture intervention, combines service learning, experiential learning, parent education, and curriculum-based sexual education. All activities are culturally appropriate for Native American youth. The goals of the project are to reduce teen pregnancy and improve communication skills among participants.

TITLE X FAMILY PLANNING SERVICES IN NEW MEXICO

- Title X–supported centers provided contraceptive care to 22,770 women in New Mexico in 2014.⁵ These services helped women avoid 5,500 unintended pregnancies, which would have resulted in 2,700 births and 2,000 abortions.
- In the absence of publicly-funded family planning services, the number of unintended pregnancies and abortions in New Mexico would be 47% higher.⁶
- By helping women avoid unintended pregnancies and the births that would follow, the services provided at Title X-supported centers in New Mexico saved $47.6 million in public funds in 2010.
- From FY 2010 to FY 2015, the amount of federal funding New Mexico received for Title X increased by $532,557, which resulted in 15,929 fewer (40%) patients were served.
- In New Mexico, 84 clinics receive support from Title X. They include health department clinics (48), federally qualified health centers (21), school-based health centers (12), private non-profits (2), and universities (1).

About The National Campaign: The National Campaign to Prevent Teen and Unplanned Pregnancy works to improve the lives and future prospects of children and families by ensuring that all children are born into families committed to and ready for the demanding task of raising the next generation by reducing unplanned pregnancy among teens and young adults. For more information, visit www.TheNationalCampaign.org.

⁶ “Publicly-funded family planning services” refers to all public funding sources that support family planning services, including Medicaid, Title X, and other state and federal resources.
